OREGON
State Insane and Idiotic Asylum.
DRS. HAWTHORNE & LORYEA,
PHYSICIANS & PROPRIETORS.

IN PURSUANCE OF A LAW PASSED BY THE present Legislative Assembly, the Oregon State Insane Idiotic Asylum is located in East Portland, in this county, Drs. Hawthorne & Loryea, Physicians and Proprietors.

The Proprietors of the above Establishment will immediately make additions to their present buildings, in order to offer accommodations to all who are unfortunate enough to need the care and treatment of an Insane or Idiotic Asylum.

It is specially requested on the part of County Judges, guardians and friends of this class of patients, to have them immediately conveyed to the Asylum, so that they may be properly cared for before the inclement weather sets in.

THE INDIGENT WILL BE SUPPORTED AT THE EXPENSE OF THE STATE, and no record of debt made against them. For further particulars apply to
DRS. HAWTHORNE & LORYEA,
Physicians of the Oregon State Insane & Idiotic Asylum.

WILCOX & GIBBS
SEWING MACHINE.

We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine, which renders it superior to any other in use:

It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear;
It is entirely noiseless;
A patented device prevents its being turned backward;
The needle cannot be set wrong;
Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;
It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1863. For particulars, enquire of

A GALLANT FIGHT.—The Louisville Journal tells of a gallant fight made by Captain S. Tabour and his nephew, John, a lad of sixteen. They belonged to a Home Guard company, and were surrounded in the Captain's own house by a noted guerrilla chief named Pratt, with his desperadoes, all armed to the teeth. Knowing that surrender would be death, they determined to sell their lives dearly:

"They refused to give themselves up, and a fight ensued. Young Tabour fired the first shot, shooting one of the outlaws through the heart. The Captain was not long in following suit. With his unerring rifle he brought down another one of the scoundrels, when the five remaining guerrillas started to flee. Pratt turned to fire a parting shot, when the Captain rewarded him with a ball in the mouth, which settled his short order, his temporal affairs. Pratt had scarcely fallen before Tabour took aim with a navy revolver and brought the fourth scoundrel to the ground.

The remaining three halted about two hundred and fifty yards from the house, and one of them was in the act of firing when the boy took quick aim and shot the gun, a Spencer rifle, from the hands of the outlaw. This closed the fight. Capt. Tabour arrived in the city yesterday, and presenting himself before Col. Farleigh made the following report: 'Colonel, we have some captured property to account for. We have three dead men and one wounded, a prisoner. We have three live horses and a dead one; three Enfield rifles, one carbine, and four saddles. What must we do with them?' Such are the spoils of the victory. We will wager that a more gallant little fight has not occurred during the war. Pratt was one of most desperate outlaws of the State, and his followers were noted for their blood-thirstiness and daring."

PROPHESY FULFILLED.—Sherman's late march through Georgia has called to mind the following prophetic language uttered by A. H. Stephens before the Georgia Secession Convention:

"This step (secession) once taken can never be recalled; and all the baneful consequences that must follow will rest on the Convention for all coming time. When we and our posterity shall see our lovely South desolated by the demon of war, which this act of yours will inevitably invite and call forth; when our green fields of waving harvest shall be trodden down by the murderous soldiery and fiery car of war sweeping over our land; our temples of justice laid in ashes; all the horrors and desolations of war upon us, who but this convention will be held responsible for it, and who but he that shall give his vote for this unwise and ill-timed measure shall be held to strict account for this suicidal act by the present generation, and probably cursed and execrated by posterity in all coming time, for the wide and desolating ruin that will inevitably follow this act you now propose to perpetrate?"

GWIN'S PLANS.—A Mexican correspondent of a New York journal writes as follows of Gwin's scheme in Northern Mexico:

Mr. Gwin's project to lead the American emigration, that is to say, the discontented people of the North and South, to that department is very strongly supported by the French. The Mexican government is glad to get the immigration, but they do not want a strong leading head up there, thousands of miles from the seat of government, particularly such a one as that of Mr. Gwin. It has been said that the French government is likely to make a second Louisiana of Sonora, to develop the rich resources of it, and after having paid their debts out of it, sell the State to the United States or the so-called Confederate States.

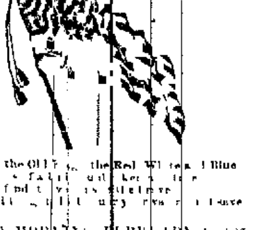
[illegible] OF THE STATE [illegible]



No Flag but the OLD Flag, the Red, White and Blue [illegible]

SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 25, 1865

A National Salute for Sumter

Governor Gibbs received last evening a telegram from the Secretary of War, dated February 21st, advising him that a National salute had been ordered to be fired on the 22d inst at West Point and at every fort, arsenal and army head quarters of the United States in honor of THE RESTORATION OF THE FLAG OF THE UNION UPON FORT SUMTER.

The people of the haughty State that assailed that fortress has at last been lowered, and as the Palmetto Star sinks into an endless night—not of oblivion, for its last crime can never be forgotten, but into a night of infamy—beautiful and brightly shines forth the constellation of the Union, and the nation's banner grows bright as its glory is vindicated to the present age and to all coming time.

Peace propositions may be vain, and such messages unheeded by the infatuated rulers of a misguided people, but as one by one the false meteors that flashed only hate towards the Nation's unity and liberties are becoming quenched, the glorious hosannas of a grateful people announce the fact that peace is not far off. Let the thunder tones of a Nation's gratitude proclaim it; let every reverberating cannon echo the sentiment of faithful loyalty we cherish, and prepare us to appreciate the mercies and triumphs of this hour. It is enough to know that where treason first asserted itself, it has at length fallen and forever. The Governor has ordered National salutes to be fired by the Washington Artillery in this city and the Salem Light Battery at noon to-day.

Retribution

When the fall of Sumter seemed the consummation of South Carolina's hopes, and the accomplishment of secession, her hotspurs were jubilant, her Rhetts became rhetorical, and her Orrs oracular; but in fact, the palsied hand of the gray haired traitor Ruffin, who fired the gun that belched the first hostile bolt at the National flag, was the true index of their fate, and the grave covered him only in time to make his death point the moral that should be inferred from the fate of the proud city and the rebellious State. To-day Columbia, her capital, and the seat of learning that the Carolinian had made the object of so much State pride, and adorned with so much satisfaction, is held by the hated "Yankee." Sherman thundered at its gates, and the Capitol Hall was profaned by the presence of the flag that in other times would have been considered as the ægis of her liberties.

The Railroads that coursed through the State carrying her products to the factories at Charleston, and dispensing in return the luxuries of all lands throughout her borders—many of these are destroyed or worse (read with the eyes of the chivalry) are made to subserve the work of the invader and help in their own "subjugation." Charleston—the home of the merchant princes of the Palmetto State—is in ruins, and even these ruins are theirs no longer. They burnt their cotton, and the cloud that went up to Heaven was the smoke of the funeral pyre of an ancient king, who laid in state dead in the fleecy shroud unwoven, but not less fitting to accompany the funeral rites. Cotton was King, but cotton died. Long he laid in state in Palmetto City, and at last the torch lit up the scene, and—fit accompaniment of wreck and ruin—the funeral pyre was burned.

The cadets no longer parade upon the Citadel Green. The young scions of aristocracy that Carolina was training there to lead her hosts through future wars, have sloped to finish their military education somewhere else. The Guard House too, where the "culled pussons" were raked in after the fateful stroke of nine, and where they received their wholesome lashings after some horrid oversleep of a city ordinance—just to think that the old brick floor will never more sound to the footsteps of a slave, and that the old walls will never more echo the vows, oaths and protestations of the old delinquent "aunty's": "So help me God, massa, I will nebber do so no more."

So it is that retribution has come at last. The last ditch has not stopped it. To-day the fugitive slave seeks the day, while the fugitive but still "high toned" master takes his place in the swamps.

Letter from the Capital

SALEM, Feb. 23, 1865.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

A very distressing accident occurred yesterday in this usually very quiet little city. Upon the reception of the glorious news of the capture of the nest egg of treason, Charleston, the Union citizens, with their usual promptness and patriotism, immediately called out the Salem Light Artillery, Capt. E. Miller commanding, to commemorate the event with a few rounds of powder. They had fired two guns, and upon ramming the third load home a premature discharge occurred, resulting in the wounding of two of the gunners, named Beverly Waller and Charles Pleasant. The former received a very severe flesh wound on the right fore arm, destroying most of the flesh there, and his face and neck were considerably burned. The latter had his left arm badly lacerated from the elbow to the fingers, and his sight is supposed to be destroyed—although it is very hard to determine that yet. They immediately received every possible attention from Dr. Carpenter and assistants, and to-day are doing much better than it was feared yesterday they would be. The fault was mainly in the lack, on the part of the thumber, to exclude the air, but the men were very careless in exposing their persons in front of the gun. At the moment of the fatal discharge the writer was talking with a friend in regard to the carelessness of the two gunners. The sad affair created a gloom over the city, and delayed the further rejoicing over the great Union victory.

A fatal accident also occurred on the river yesterday, about three miles below the mouth of the Santiam. Joseph Switzer, mate on the steamer Enterprise, by some means slipped from the bow of the boat while she was under full head of steam, and being unable to swim, sank before assistance could reach him. He leaves a wife, who has now lost the second husband by drowning. Yours in haste,

A. H. W.

THE HEGIRA TO MEXICO.—The San Francisco Democratic Press says the desire to leave California for Mexico is becoming more prevalent every day among the people, and all sorts of schemes for conveying persons there are being projected. The steamer rates of fare are so extravagant that many are debarred from going in that way, and we learn that some gentlemen are trying to charter sailing vessels for the purpose of putting them in the Mexican trade. So many persons of moderate means are anxious to go that we think an excellent chance is offered to some ship-owners to make money by putting their vessels in the trade and transporting passengers at low rates. Several families went down on the John L. Stephens the other day, and other families will soon leave on a sailing vessel, and still others are making preparations to leave in a few weeks.

EXPIRATION OF SERVICE.—Lieut. J. W. Clawson, 1st W. T. Infantry, arrived at Fort Vancouver by the steamer Wilson G. Hunt yesterday with thirty soldiers from Fort Walla Walla, belonging to Companies A and B, of the same regiment, who are to be mustered out of the service, their term of enlistment having expired.

The Medical College

In yesterday's paper was given an account of the organization of a Medical Department to the Willamette University. The charter is made in a broad general view of the requirements of the present and the necessities of the future. The organization of such an institution requires something more than a passing notice. That Oregon is laying a certain foundation of prosperity and greatness in her agricultural, manufacturing and commercial interests is apparent. The plough, the anvil, the loom are busy to multiply our products and the steam [illegible] to bear them to other communities and other shores.

But that our young men may not rush unprepared into possession of the princely legacy in reserve for them, that they may meet with steady step and tranquil eye the unforeseen future, with its duties and honors, that they may be worthy of their fathers and of the great inheritance which will soon be theirs, they must be taught on a broad and liberal basis.

To secure this instruction the people of Oregon have [illegible] Two Universities, the Willamette and the [illegible] have permanent foundation. The Willamette has now under roof by far the largest and best building in the State. It will stand for generations a noble and lasting monument of the foresight, energy and providence of its founders. This university, with its usual provision, has now organized a medical department. Few persons outside the pale of the profession appreciate the improvements in medicine and surgery which have illustrated the healing art since the opening of the 19th century. That the steam engine and telegraph have revolutionized the world of physics, that iron clads have rendered [illegible] naval warfare [illegible] that art and science [illegible] everywhere illuminated [illegible] few understand that medicine has its Fultons, Morses [illegible] That its discoveries which have alleviated suffering, prolonged life and rendered their authors illustrious among the benefactors of the human race is appreciated only by the initiated of the academy. That diseases of the heart and the lungs can be interpreted by physical signs, that the ophthalmoscope reveals to the instructed all the minute changes in the internal eye, has been the result of the labors of the last few years. Armies heretofore have furnished the material upon which disease has preyed. The very name of camp fever brings before the eye the close, compact array of armed men. All recognize the best benefits accruing to our sick and bleeding soldiers from the benevolence [illegible] and humanity of the Christian and Sanitary Commissions, but that their beneficence has been available, that pestilence and disease have not thinned and broken the ranks of the soldiers of the Republic that now are in the army of the Potomac or the Cumberland, in the department of the Southwest or Northwest, encampments at Beaufort or New Orleans, has there been prevalent epidemic disease, is owing under Providence directly to the supervision of the thoroughly educated medical officers, field and staff; that thousands of shattered [illegible] have been so treated that the unfortunate wounded have been turned off with useful limbs instead of unsightly stumps, has resulted from the improved conservative surgery of the age. Foreign, our carping English and French neighbors, have expressed unqualified admiration of the medical corps, and it may be remarked that these wonderful results have been produced not in [illegible] hundred [illegible] which have vegetated in the rank soils of the nineteenth century, but by the grand [illegible] Faculty in lineal descent from [illegible] father [illegible]—Hippocrates.

[illegible] growth [illegible] experience [illegible]

May the Medical College of the Willamette University [illegible] Oregon [illegible] generation to generation for the healing of our people.

It is recently transpired that [illegible] last summer, Secretary Seward advised the British Government that he not feel that if the [illegible] rams were permitted to escape and get into rebel hands our [illegible] would order their capture subsequently even if found in British waters. He based this threat [illegible] the ground that we had no other remedy if England insisted upon depriving us of our right to be protected against the illegal fitting out of war vessels against us in British ports. Palmerston took the hint, and the rams didn't escape.

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The regular weekly meeting of the Common Council was held at the Council Chamber at seven o'clock last evening.

Mayor Failing occupied the Chair.

The following members were present—Councilmen Bennett, Cole, Frazar, [illegible], McCraken, Starr. Absent—Messrs [illegible] Roberts on and Hoffman.

The record of the previous meeting was read by the Clerk and approved by the Council.

[illegible] petitioned to have a reduction [illegible] on the assessment [illegible] in block 2 from $ 700 to $1 700. The petition was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

The directors of the [illegible] petitioned to have a reduction amounting to $15 [illegible] on the valuation of their property and attesting under oath that said property was assessed at that much more than its cash valuation.

On motion the petition was granted and the Treasurer authorized to make the [illegible].

The committee on streets and public property reported against the petition of W. R. Clark to have the matter [illegible] license [illegible] obstructions of the sidewalk. The report was adopted.

The same committee reported favorably on the petition from Messrs [illegible] Sivers and others, [illegible] for the removal of obstructions from the [illegible] street [illegible] resolution was adopted [illegible] the barn [illegible] to be removed.

Warrants were ordered drawn on the appropriate funds for the following claims: J N Dolph $7 32, W Wilcox [illegible] $15 00, C H Myers $8 15, Geo Watts $20 00, S S Shattuck $9 00, James Gill $1 00, Joseph Teal $20 00, R [illegible], $40 00, Smith & Davis $37 10, J N Dolph, $4 00, Gas Light Company bill amounting to $220 25, Water Company bill $50 00. The claim of Harbaugh & Stitzel amounting to $36 54 was referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses.

An ordinance entitled "An ordinance to create a gas light and water fund" was read the first and second times and on motion the first section of the ordinance was stricken out and the title of the ordinance was changed to read, "An ordinance appropriating funds to pay for gas and water."

An ordinance to suppress bawdy houses and prevent prostitution in the city of Portland, imposing a fine of $100 and imprisonment for each offence, was read the first and second time and on motion of councilman Starr the ordinance was then referred to the committee on health and police.

On motion, rule 28 was suspended and the ordinance appropriating $2,000 to the gas and water fund was taken up and read the third time and placed upon its final passage and passed.

Councilman Starr introduced a resolution, having reference to improving Front street and instructing the Auditor to give the required notice by publication ten days, which resolution was adopted.

Also, a resolution to authorize the Street Commissioner to have the second bridge from the Penitentiary repaired, providing it could be done at an expense of $50. The resolution was adopted. On motion, the Council adjourned.

THE CASE OF MR. HALL.—The trial of Mr C H Hall was resumed in Circuit Court yesterday morning, and continued throughout the entire day. A large number of witnesses were examined on both sides, and the most distinguished medical talent of the State summoned to prove the defendant a kleptomaniac. The case was prosecuted with great energy by Mr. Hodgkinson, assisted by Judge Strong, and was ably defended by Messrs. L F Grover and J. H. Mitchell. No stronger arguments probably were ever made in the annals of an Oregon Court, and the masses, composing many friends of the accused, as well as those who felt a nobler regard for the successful vindication of an all important issue exhibited an unceasing interest in the case from the hour the arguments commenced until the matter was given to the jury, at about six o'clock.

Before going to press we learn that the jury have returned with a verdict declaring the defendant a kleptomaniac—afflicted with a species of moral insanity.

A MAN TRAP.—Our attention has been called to another man trap, at the foot of Yamhill street, in this city. On Wednesday evening Mr Buckminster fell into it, and had he been a short man would probably have drowned. The day after Christmas Mr. J. H. Johnson rescued a pair of individuals who had fallen in the same [illegible]. Who is to be blamed for the loss of life likely to follow the leaving open of such traps? Recently a poor man arrived in this city from across the country, and he no sooner reached the termination of his long journey than he is maimed for life by such carelessness as is referred to above.

POLICE.—The City Marshal, Mr. Hoyt, has lately placed Mr Brannan as officer on the beat of the Third Ward and the place lately patroled by Thomas Foreman, is now occupied by officer Hall. There are at present six Police officers on the force of the Marshal as assistants and the appointments appear to have all been carefully made.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.—We hear of another one of those agreeable surprises such as only the Portland ladies are capable of managing. In company with about a dozen gentlemen as many ladies visited the "quarters" of one of our bachelor citizens and paid him their compliments in fine style, a few evenings since.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Three defendants in the case of the State who were charged with breaking into the Pony Saloon, were discharged there being no evidence to warrant conviction. Three others were committed to jail in the aggregate for four days, in default of the wherewith whereby they might liquidate certain penalties.

THE ANGEL OF MIDNIGHT.—The performance of the thrilling five act drama above mentioned will be repeated at Wallamette Theatre this evening. As recently produced by the talented company at present under the management of Mr. Waldron it was pronounced the finest play of the season and this being the closing evening of the engagement of the Irwins we predict a crowded house.

SCHOOL DISTRICT REPORTS.—Rev Geo H Atkinson, the worthy Superintendent of the schools of Multnomah county, requests the Clerks of the various districts throughout the county to forward their reports to him as soon as possible as on Monday the 6th day of March, the school money must be apportioned.

COMMENCEMENT OF THE STOCK SEASON.—The steamer Julia leaves this city to-day for the Cascades with two hundred head of cattle on board for the upper Columbia country. The steamer [illegible] will be met at the Cascades ready to transport the stock to the Dalles immediately. The season for shipping live stock is now about to fairly open.

THEATRICAL.—Mr. Potter has closed his theatrical season at Victoria and arrived here last evening on the Pacific, bringing with him Mr James Taylor, Estelle Potter Macdonald, Miss Belle Divine, Miss Florence, Mr and Mrs Leslie, Messrs Graham, Shields and others.

FOR THE COLVILLE BOAT.—The machinery of the late steamer [illegible] was sent by the O S N Co to the Dalles a few days since, for a proper fitting and we learn is to be placed in order for running the new boat in contemplation above Kettle Falls on the Columbia.

LIBRARY MEETING.—We are pleased to learn of the acquisition of a list of good members to the Library Association during the four days past. The appointment for the first annual meeting this evening should not be forgotten.

THEATRE.—Another very full house greeted the plays at Wallamette Theatre last evening. The Company are all entitled to the appellation of Stars as in our estimation they proved their entire efficiency last evening.

Mining Stocks and Mining Interests.

PORTLAND, Friday February 24, 1865.

There is nothing of special interest to communicate this week in regard to mining interests. The transactions in the Stock and Exchange Board have been confined exclusively to Legal Tenders which have been sold at 51c.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the [illegible] Gold and Silver Mining Company, held [illegible] day, A. J. Sands was appointed Superintendent of the [illegible]. Immediate operations were authorized to be [illegible] at the shaft and a contract made either with Moore & Fogus or Minear's Mill for crushing the rock obtained.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be in the possession of everybody in the mining region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable it has no superior. While it is quite palatable even as a beverage, it is a wonderful [illegible] upon the system. In all cases of Diarrhoea, Dysentery and the prevailing fever consequent upon exposure, the Bitters will be found invaluable as a corrective. No man should enter upon the exposed camp life of a miner without being provided with Hostetter's preventive [illegible] those who are now engaged in the [illegible] course to the Bitters. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. f11

The Diamond Bracelet.

A TRUE INCIDENT.

The evening of the 15th of February 183—, was a gala night in Paris. 'Don Giovanni', was to be performed at the opera by an assemblage of talent rarely announced for one night, even at the opera house at Paris, or in the great opera of Don Giovanni. Yet it was not the names of the artistes that most attracted the attention as one read the bills—noble and more celebrated names caught the eye. They were those of the reigning King and Queen—Louis Philippe and Marie Amelie. The affiches announced that they would honor the opera with their presence on that evening. They had been but a short time restored to their native land, and this was their first appearance at the opera since the 'three days' of July had placed them on the throne: for this reason as many Orleanists as could obtain tickets had secured them for the opera of the 15th of February to hear 'Don Giovanni' and to see their King and Queen. About six o'clock (for be it remembered the Paris opera did not begin at the present London hours) carriages were to be seen conveying the gaily dressed occupants to the classic building. An unusually handsome equipage stood at the door of a large house in the Rue des Champs Elysees, evidently also for the purpose of taking some fashionables to the opera. This carriage and house belonged to the Baron de V——, who was just then standing at the bottom of the noble staircase inside the mansion calling playfully to his wife, telling her that the carriage was waiting.

'I'm coming, I'm coming' was the answer to this appeal; 'don't be in such a hurry.'

As the last piece of advice was proffered the speaker appeared at the top of the stairs.

She was a dark beauty of about one and twenty, and was dressed purely in white. She came fluttering down stairs, chattering meanwhile to her handsome husband, who stood looking admiringly at her.

'Now I'm quite ready, so please don't scold. I've only got my bracelets to put on, and those I want you to clasp for me. Here's the case if you'd take them out and here's my wrist. Now, suppose I were to lose them in the crowd, what would our good mother say?'

A smile was the only answer the Baron vouchsafed as he took the bracelets out of the case and clasped them on the fair arm of his young bride.

They were very costly, being composed of three rows of valuable table diamonds, whilst in the center of either glittered a spray of heartsease, artistically formed of smaller diamonds. The bracelets were rendered more precious to the possessors by the fact of their having been in the De V—— family for three generations. They now by right belonged to the dowager Baronne, but she had insisted on giving them to her son for his bride, who, therefore, wore them on such occasions as the one we are describing.

The Baron and Baronne de V—— stepped into the carriage, and in a few minutes were entering their box at the opera. The house was already full, although it still wanted fifteen minutes to the time announced for the overture to begin. At length the members of the orchestra took their places, and the peculiar subdued sound of tuning stringed instruments was heard. Still the royal box was empty, and all eyes were turned towards it in eagre expectation. In another moment applause burst forth from the pit and gallery and the entire house, as Louis Philippe and Queen Marie Amelie, attended by a large suit of officers and ladies and gentlemen of the court appeared. The King and Queen bowed graciously in return for the homage paid them, and then took their seats, at which the rest of the company did the same, and the overture commenced.

The Queen looked unusually happy, and seemed to take a lively interest in all around her. She not only gazed at the stage but the boxes also came in for a share of her penetrating observation.

Suddenly she bent forward and looked in the direction of the box that contained the lovely young Baronne de V——, the latter was leaning forward, her right hand raised, a finger of which touched one of her dimpled cheeks, deeply interested in the fate of 'Don Giovanni' and quite absorbed in the beautiful music.

Her husband had noticed the Queen's gesture, and was aware that she had observed his wife, and when the Queen turned away he laughingly told her of it.

'Nonsense,' cried the bride, 'don't fancy such absurdities.'

The truth of what her husband said, however, soon forced itself on her mind, for at that moment, an officer, dressed in the same uniform as those attending the royal party, drew back the curtain behind their box, and stepping forward said Pardon Madame, but her Majesty's admiration and curiosity has been so roused by the sight of the beautiful bracelets you wear, that she has commissioned me to come and request you to spare me one for a few minutes for her close inspection. The pretty Baronne blushed, looked up to her husband for approval, then unclasped one of the bracelets and handed it to the officer, feeling not a little flattered at the attention and distinction the Queen had conferred on her.

The last act of the opera began and at length the last scene ended, yet the bracelet was not returned. Its owners thought the officer had undoubtedly forgotten it, and the Baron said he would go and make inquiries concerning it. He did so, and in a few momements returned, though without the bracelet.

'Adele,' said he to his wife, 'it is very strange, but not seeing the officer who took your bracelet, I asked one of the others, who has been in the royal box the whole evening, and he says your bracelet was neither sent for nor fetched.'

The Baroni looked agast. 'Francis,' she said, 'that man must have been an impostor. He was no officer but an affreux thief.'

The Baron smiled as his little wife jumped so speedily at the conclusion, and persisted that the bracelet was safe, and had really been sent for by the Queen, and that the officer whom he had consulted was misinformed.'

But woman's penetration had guessed rightly as the morrow proved.

As the bracelet was not forthcoming the next morning, M. de V—— spoke to the Chief Inspector of the police on the subject, who quite coincided with Madame's opinion as to the valuable ornament having been artfully stolen. The Baron was greatly annoyed, and ordered the inspector to advertise for it in every daily [illegible] offering a reward of 500 francs to [illegible] who would restore it. [illegible] to [illegible] his power to [illegible] for the satisfaction of his employers.

But three [illegible] away—500 francs had been [illegible] advertising—and still the missing [illegible].

It was growing [illegible] one evening in May, when a servant [illegible] Monsieur the Inspector, with whom Madame de V—— had had many [illegible] on the subject of the [illegible]. He entered the room, in [illegible] the respectful manner peculiar to him. 'I believe I have some good news for Madame this evening,' he said. His voice was rather singular, somewhat resembling a boy's when changing. Madame de V—— [illegible] remarked this peculiarity [illegible] strike her that evening. 'The detectives,' he continued, 'engaged in the business, have met with a bracelet in a Jew's second-hand shop in Lyons, [illegible] the same as Madame's that [illegible] for it to be identified before we can claim it as Madame's property. My object in coming this evening is to ask Madame to allow me to take the other, that I may be able to swear to the one at Lyons being its fellow.'

The Baronne, overjoyed at the idea of recovering her lost property, tripped out of the room, and soon returned with the remaining bracelet. 'The bracelets are exactly alike?' he inquired of Madame de V——.

'Exactly,' replied the Baronne.

'I believe I have learnt that pattern thoroughly,' said the inspector, musingly, 'yet there may be some difficulty in not having both bracelets together to compare them one with the other.'

'Why not take this to Lyons, then?' suggested the Baronne.

'Ah, madame, it would scarcely do to trust even a police inspector, after having been deceived by an officer in disguise.'

'Oh!' laughed Madame de V——, 'do not think I would trust you, Monsieur Inspector? after all the interest and trouble you have taken in the matter? Take the bracelet, and I hope you will bring me back both ere many days have passed.'

The inspector hesitated, but at length consented to do as the Baronne wished him and went away bearing the sparkling ornament with him. On her husband's return the Baronne [illegible] him of the joyful Recovery.

A week, however, passed away without the Inspector's arriving with the stolen property. One morning, therefore, the Baron [illegible] on the Inspector to make inquiries respecting it. The latter seemed very much surprised on being asked if the bracelet had been brought from Lyons. 'What does M[illegible] mean? I never heard anything about the bracelet having been found at Lyons—it is surely a mistake. Monsieur has misunderstood la Baronne.'

'You had better come yourself and have this strange mystery cleared up, M. Inspecteur,' answered the Baron sternly. 'Madame is at home, and will be happy to assure you and herself that it is no mistake, that you called and informed her of the diamonds' having been traced to Lyons.'

The Baron and the Inspector repaired to the Rue des Champs Elysees, where they found Madame de V—— at home, as her husband had said. She confirmed what he had already said about the Inspector having called one night at dusk, and having informed her that the bracelet was supposed to be at a Jew's second-hand shop at Lyons.

The inspector smiled incredulously as he said, 'Does Madame really think that I call at dusk, after business hours, when all the world is out, or enjoying itself with company at home? Bah! I do my business in business hours. The disguised officer most probably thought he could do another little stroke of business in an official uniform of another cut—the villain! Mais—I am afraid Madame will never see either of her bracelets again after this.'

The Inspector's words came but too true. From that day to this Madame la Baronne de V——'s diamond bracelets have never been heard of.—Once-a-Week.

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness, which is the case with most remedies, or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.
Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle

Portland, Oregon, June 15, 1864.

Proclamation.

State of Oregon, Executive Department,
January 12th, 1865.

WHEREAS, I HAVE RECEIVED A REQUISITION from Major General Irwin McDowell, commanding the Department of the Pacific, acting under the authority of the War Department, for a regiment of Cavalry for another term of years, by retaining in whole or in part the Regimental and Company organization of the present Oregon Regiment of Cavalry, to aid in the enforcement of the laws, to suppress insurrection and invasion and to chastise hostile Indians in this Military District.

Now, therefore, I, Addison C. Gibbs, Governor of the State of Oregon and Commander-in-Chief of the Militia thereof, do hereby call upon the citizens of this State to organize themselves into Companies sufficient to fill the foregoing requisition.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Oregon to be affixed. Done at Salem this 12th day of January, A. D. 1865.
[L. S.]
ADDISON C. GIBBS,
Governor of Oregon.

Attest: SAMUEL E. MAY,
Secretary of State.

Plan of Recruiting.

The Regiment will retain the name of the 1st Cavalry Oregon Volunteers. It will consist of twelve Companies—seven Companies of the old Regiment will be recruited to the minimum strength required. Five new Companies remain to be raised. A Recruiting Officer for each new Company will be appointed.

Commissions will be issued by the Governor to Recruiting Officers, conditioned that they shall recruit their respective Companies in the District to which they are assigned, and be ready to be mustered into the service within a time hereafter to be named. All the Officers for the new Companies and the First and Second Lieutenants for the old ones will be appointed as soon as the Companies are filled.

As soon as it is practicable, the State will be divided into Districts according to the number of persons in each liable to do military duty and to the number of troops heretofore furnished. When such District has furnished its quota of men there will be no draft in the same under this call.

The State has provided by law for the payment of a bounty of $150 in State interest-bearing bonds, payable in gold to each Volunteer mustered into the service for three years, in addition to the bounties authorized to be paid by the United States.

Under Act of Congress, those who enlist for one year are entitled to a bounty from the General Government of one hundred dollars; for two years, two hundred dollars, and for three years, three hundred dollars, one-third of which is payable at the time of muster-in. Neither drafted men nor substitutes—furnished either before or after the draft—are entitled to bounty.

The wages of a Private soldier are $16 a month, besides clothing, equipments, rations, medicines and medical attendance, and other allowances furnished by the United States.

The pay per month is to 1st Sergeants of Cavalry, $24; Sergeants, $20; Corporals $18; Buglers, $16. A Company can be mustered in on reaching a minimum of 82 enlisted men.

All the Horses for enlisted men will be furnished by the Government.

Appreciating highly the patriotic action of the people in responding to the previous call for an Infantry Regiment, it is hoped that equal alacrity will be exhibited in raising a Regiment of Cavalry.

Organization of a Regiment.

One Colonel,
One Lieut.-Colonel,
Three Majors,
One Surgeon,
Two Assistant Surgeons,
One Regimental Adjutant, (an extra lieutenant,)
One Reg'l Quartermaster, (an extra lieutenant,)
One Reg'l Commissary, (an extra lieutenant,)

One Wagoner.

The minimum number of enlisted men required for a Company is 82; the maximum number, 101.

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN

DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN TURBINE HAS many advantages over all other Wheels, both Turbines and Overshot.
It has competed successfully with every variety of Wheel, and has always proved itself victorious.
This Wheel has been in use nearly Three Years in the States and HAS NEVER MADE A FAILURE.
It is CHEAPER than an Overshot, MORE DURABLE, and will YIELD A HIGHER PER CENT. OF POWER from the same quantity of water. We have introduced [illegible] on this coast. They are not all in operation yet, but will be in a few days. The following testimonial is from an old and experienced Mill-wright, well known in this State:

WESTPORT, CLATSOP CO., OREGON,
Nov. 19th, 1864.
MESSRS. LEFFEL & MYERS—Dear Sirs: We have plenty of water now and your DOUBLE TURBINE is in successful operation. We are satisfied that your Wheel is fully equal, if not superior to the Overshot. With the same water that the Overshot uses, we can do more work with the Turbine than with the Overshot. I have tried many Wheels which were claimed to be superior to an Overshot but yours is the first I have found. Hence we do not hesitate to recommend the American Double Turbine as the most efficient economizer of water in our knowledge.
JOHN WEST & CO.

We desire all who want Wheels to visit the following named places and have ocular demonstration of the above facts:
John West & Co., West Port, Clatsop County, Oregon;
Lewis Slade, Vancouver, W. T.;
I. P. Lambing, Idaho City, I. T.;
Hampton Kelly, three miles East of Portland;
Sawyer & Co., Oregon City. Address

THE OREGONIAN,

A

FIRST-CLASS POLITICAL AND FAMILY NEWSPAPER

Published Daily and Weekly.

PROSPECTUS FOR THE FIFTEENTH VOLUME
Commencing November 19th, 1864.

The character of the OREGONIAN, which has been regularly issued for fourteen years, being the oldest newspaper in the State, has become so well established and is so favorably known, that we hardly deem it necessary at the present time to announce that it will continue to be a FIRST-CLASS INDEPENDENT FAMILY and POLITICAL NEWSPAPER. We shall spare no effort towards further improvement and progress, and to make the OREGONIAN not only a complete compendium of current news and passing events, but also a pleasant fireside companion and a faithful commercial guide. It will contain full reports of important naval, military and political events, with Stories, Sketches, Poetry, Editorials upon current topics, Correspondence from different sources and Telegraphic Reports up to the time of going to press.

It is the only paper in Oregon that gives full and reliable Telegraphic Reports, and that receives these reports in full, expressly for its own columns.

The size of the WEEKLY is much enlarged with the commencement of the present volume, but the price remains still at the low sum of THREE DOLLARS per annum, hoping thereby to secure an increase of circulation as a reward of our enterprise.

Our columns will be devoted to the advocacy of Union principles, and we hope by a candid and courteous discussion of political principles to command readers of every political complexion and the respect of all our readers.

We shall specially endeavor to conserve the interests and merit the patronage of the large and important mining regions of Idaho, Washington and our own State, publish all matters of interest relating thereto, and do justice to their growth and importance, and shall endeavor to receive interesting and reliable correspondence from that section of country.
